

Spiders and Yellow Jackets Meet Here To-Day; Virginia Tackles Strong Georgetown Eleven

VIRGINIA

Name and Position	Weight	Height	Age
White, left end	155	5-9	20
Malind, left tackle	212	6-1	21
Redus, left guard	178	6-1	21
Brown, center	192	6-1	21
Cartier, right guard	220	5-8	21
Wootfolk, right tackle	170	6-2	22
Gillette, right end	163	5-10	24
Gooch, quarter back	158	6	20
Mayer, left half back	162	6	21
Ray, right half back	164	5-11	20
Landes, full back	177	6	21
Average	177	6	22

Substitutes: Shelby M. Jeff, Jr., of Richmond, Ky., subcenter; age, 24 years; height, 6 feet; weight, 163 pounds; prepared for college at Model School, Ky., and at Hampden-Sydney, Va.; third year on team.
S. Wellford Randolph, of Chicago, subhalf back; age, 22; height, 5 feet 10 inches; weight, 150 pounds; prepared for college at Episcopal High School; second year on team.
Harris W. Coleman, of Stanford, Ky., subhalf back; age, 20; height, 5 feet 11 inches; weight, 163 pounds; prepared for college at Stanford High School; first year on team.
Thomas Coleman, of Stanford, Ky., subcenter; age, 18; height, 5 feet 10 inches; weight, 167; prepared for college at Stanford High School; first year on team.
Knox Walker, of San Francisco, Cal., subhalf back; age, 19; height, 5 feet 10 inches; weight, 167; prepared for college at Woodberry Forest School; first year on team.
Sprey, subhalf back; age, 18; height, 6 feet; weight, 160; prepared for college at Episcopal High School; first year on team.
Goodwyn, subcenter; age, 19; height, 6 feet 2 inches; weight, 157 pounds; prepared for college at Episcopal High School; first year on team.
Creekmore, subcenter; age, 19; height, 5 feet 10 inches; weight, 168; prepared for college at Jefferson School, Charlottesville; first year on team.
Flannigan, subquarter back; age, 19; height, 5 feet 4 inches; weight, 148; prepared for college at Jefferson School, Charlottesville; first year on team.

GEORGETOWN

Name and Position	Weight	Height	Age
Martin, left end	172	5-8	19
Peterson, left tackle	175	6-1	20
Bacon, left guard	190	5-11	21
Kelly, center	188	5-9	19
Bryant, right guard	169	6-1	23
Wardlaw, right tackle	174	5-9	19
Donnelly, right end	158	6	22
Foley, quarter back	165	5-9	20
Perry, left half back	150	5-7	22
Costello, right half back	155	5-8	24
Dunn, full back	175	5-9	22
Average	170	5-8	21

Substitutes: John Marshall High School football team will have a bye on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock for Norfolk, where they meet the fast, victory-pushed Maury High School team.
This game will practically decide the high school championship of Tidewater Virginia. The winner of to-day's contest will meet Lynchburg High School, champions of the western section of the State, in the State championship. John Marshall put Maury High out of the running last year, and will try hard to repeat the trick to-day.
While badly crippled by injuries to several star players, the Maury team will enter the contest prepared to give Maury the toughest tussle of the season. The loss of "Stumpy" Owens, cyclone half back, and "Shiny" Wood, the gritty full back, is a hard blow for the Blue and White line-up. The shift in the Blue and White line-up occurred yesterday afternoon, when Coach Simpson shifted Turner back in his regular position as right end, and shifted Blankenship from right half back to left half back, to carry being put in Blankenship's place.
With the exception of these minor changes, John Marshall will line-up exactly as they did against Blackstone Academy. This shift will greatly strengthen the Blue and White right wing, which heretofore has been the weakest point in the locals' machine.
Judging by the number of games won this season, Maury High seems to have the edge on John Marshall. The locals have won five of their last six games, and Maury has won four of its last five. Maury has one of the hardest men to stop the back, and the locals have a strong line. However, he will be in to-day's practice, and is expected to put up another brilliant performance.
The locals will carry quite a delegation of rooters, and they expect to win. The game will be played at Broad Street Park next Tuesday afternoon between John Marshall and Maury High School. The game will be a real test of the two teams' strength, and will be a real test of the two teams' strength, and will be a real test of the two teams' strength.

MARSHALLITES OFF FOR NORFOLK CITY

Mathews Will Play at Quarter Back, While Cosby Will Be in Line-Up

The John Marshall High School football team will have a bye on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock for Norfolk, where they meet the fast, victory-pushed Maury High School team.
This game will practically decide the high school championship of Tidewater Virginia. The winner of to-day's contest will meet Lynchburg High School, champions of the western section of the State, in the State championship. John Marshall put Maury High out of the running last year, and will try hard to repeat the trick to-day.
While badly crippled by injuries to several star players, the Maury team will enter the contest prepared to give Maury the toughest tussle of the season. The loss of "Stumpy" Owens, cyclone half back, and "Shiny" Wood, the gritty full back, is a hard blow for the Blue and White line-up. The shift in the Blue and White line-up occurred yesterday afternoon, when Coach Simpson shifted Turner back in his regular position as right end, and shifted Blankenship from right half back to left half back, to carry being put in Blankenship's place.
With the exception of these minor changes, John Marshall will line-up exactly as they did against Blackstone Academy. This shift will greatly strengthen the Blue and White right wing, which heretofore has been the weakest point in the locals' machine.
Judging by the number of games won this season, Maury High seems to have the edge on John Marshall. The locals have won five of their last six games, and Maury has won four of its last five. Maury has one of the hardest men to stop the back, and the locals have a strong line. However, he will be in to-day's practice, and is expected to put up another brilliant performance.
The locals will carry quite a delegation of rooters, and they expect to win. The game will be played at Broad Street Park next Tuesday afternoon between John Marshall and Maury High School. The game will be a real test of the two teams' strength, and will be a real test of the two teams' strength, and will be a real test of the two teams' strength.

RICHMOND COLLEGE

Position	Age	Height	Weight	Years on Team
Newton, left end	18	5-7	140	1
Robins, left tackle	20	5-11	170	1
Hutchinson, left guard	18	5-11	170	2
George, center	22	5-11	170	2
Carter, right guard	22	5-11	170	2
Coburn, right tackle	22	5-11	170	2
Jones, right end	20	5-11	170	2
Ancarrow, quarter back	19	5-10	150	1
Pollard, left half back	19	5-8	140	1
Kings, right half back	20	5-10	170	1
Klevesahl, full back	18	5-10	140	1
Averages	20	5-10	150

RICHMOND COLLEGE SUBSTITUTES

Position	Age	Height	Weight	Years on Team
C. Wicker, left half back	18	5-10	140	1
Johnson, full back	18	5-8	120	0
Beal, left tackle	20	6	155	2
Beal, right tackle	20	6	155	2
J. Wicker, guard	19	6	160	1
Richards, guard	20	6	155	1
Covington, subguard	21	5-10	160	0
Averages	20	5-9	157

RANDOLPH-MACON

Position	Age	Height	Weight	Years on Team
Vaughan (capt.), left end	19	5-8	140	3
Jones, left tackle	20	5-10	180	3
Morton, left guard	19	6-0	165	3
Scott, center	18	6-0	180	3
Sperry, right guard	19	6-0	185	3
Bush, right tackle	19	6-0	185	3
W. R. Scott, right end	19	5-10	142	3
Driver, left half back	20	5-7	145	3
Blount, right half back	20	5-7	145	3
Hane, quarter back	21	5-10	152	3
Sheffey, full back	19	5-10	140	3
Averages	19.6	5.8	158.1	3

RANDOLPH-MACON SUBSTITUTES

Position	Age	Height	Weight	Years on Team
Mcneer, guard	18	5-10	140	1
Richardson, half back	18	5-10	140	1
Turner, half back	20	5-10	155	1
Midyette, quarter back	19	5-10	148	2
Roe, guard	19	5-10	175	2
Christman, right end	17	5-10	140	1
Bailey, center	19	5-10	155	1
Hopkins, left end	19	5-10	140	1
Haythorne, half back	17	5-10	145	1
Harrell, center	20	5-10	160	1

ON EVE OF BATTLE RESULT SEEMINGLY IS MOST UNCERTAIN

Heavy Virginia Team in Annual Clash With Georgetown Eleven To-Day—Orange and Blue Supporters Fearful That Catholics May Spring Surprise.

Athletic Relations Between Colleges May Be Severed After To-Day's Game

BY GUS MALBERT.

Washington, November 14.—To-morrow may furnish the last football game between Virginia and Georgetown for many years. This is no hyperbolic statement, but the result of considerable unrest, first discovered at Charlottesville. The cause of what may prove to be a severance of athletic relations between the two schools, a business on the part of the Georgetown authorities in maintaining the standing of the men participating in intercollegiate athletics. At least this is the view expressed to-night by a Virginia official, in close touch with athletics at the university.

There is no fault to be found with the eligibility rules at Georgetown; the fault lies in their enforcement, or rather in their lack of enforcement. Somehow or other, say the Virginia men, these rules have been negatively through an undiscoverable agency. That's where the rub lies. Regardless of the result to-morrow, the question will be brought to an issue before any contract is entered into for a Georgetown-Virginia game next year.

Dr. W. A. Lambeth, head of athletics at the University of Virginia, will confer with Harvard athletic advisers shortly regarding a game between the Crimson and the Orange and Blue. Harvard offered Virginia a game this year, but it fell on the date allotted Georgetown, therefore nothing could be done. Since Harvard cut out Dartmouth a representative game has been needed. Virginia was wanted to fill this bill. Now Georgetown must either force the Virginia game or agree to clean up, as Virginia interpreters are cleaning up.

That the Charlottesville school has the whip hand is conceded. Georgetown must either agree to terms or lose a game that has brought great financial returns. There is almost as much interest here to-night in this phase of the situation as in the result of the game.

No charges are made regarding the 1913 Georgetown eleven, but Virginia men think it strange that a number of players not expected earlier in the season should have been hurriedly whipped into shape at a late date. In other words, Virginia adherents feel that it is manifestly unfair for the Orange and Blue to go up against a team that is trained for just one college—Virginia. That's the real bone here of the woolpile.

BY GUS MALBERT.

Washington, November 14.—On the eve of the annual clash between the University of Virginia and Georgetown, the University of Virginia men are sure that the result of the game will be a severance of athletic relations between the two schools. The cause of what may prove to be a severance of athletic relations between the two schools, a business on the part of the Georgetown authorities in maintaining the standing of the men participating in intercollegiate athletics. At least this is the view expressed to-night by a Virginia official, in close touch with athletics at the university.

There is no fault to be found with the eligibility rules at Georgetown; the fault lies in their enforcement, or rather in their lack of enforcement. Somehow or other, say the Virginia men, these rules have been negatively through an undiscoverable agency. That's where the rub lies. Regardless of the result to-morrow, the question will be brought to an issue before any contract is entered into for a Georgetown-Virginia game next year.

Dr. W. A. Lambeth, head of athletics at the University of Virginia, will confer with Harvard athletic advisers shortly regarding a game between the Crimson and the Orange and Blue. Harvard offered Virginia a game this year, but it fell on the date allotted Georgetown, therefore nothing could be done. Since Harvard cut out Dartmouth a representative game has been needed. Virginia was wanted to fill this bill. Now Georgetown must either force the Virginia game or agree to clean up, as Virginia interpreters are cleaning up.

That the Charlottesville school has the whip hand is conceded. Georgetown must either agree to terms or lose a game that has brought great financial returns. There is almost as much interest here to-night in this phase of the situation as in the result of the game.

No charges are made regarding the 1913 Georgetown eleven, but Virginia men think it strange that a number of players not expected earlier in the season should have been hurriedly whipped into shape at a late date. In other words, Virginia adherents feel that it is manifestly unfair for the Orange and Blue to go up against a team that is trained for just one college—Virginia. That's the real bone here of the woolpile.

There is no fault to be found with the eligibility rules at Georgetown; the fault lies in their enforcement, or rather in their lack of enforcement. Somehow or other, say the Virginia men, these rules have been negatively through an undiscoverable agency. That's where the rub lies. Regardless of the result to-morrow, the question will be brought to an issue before any contract is entered into for a Georgetown-Virginia game next year.

Dr. W. A. Lambeth, head of athletics at the University of Virginia, will confer with Harvard athletic advisers shortly regarding a game between the Crimson and the Orange and Blue. Harvard offered Virginia a game this year, but it fell on the date allotted Georgetown, therefore nothing could be done. Since Harvard cut out Dartmouth a representative game has been needed. Virginia was wanted to fill this bill. Now Georgetown must either force the Virginia game or agree to clean up, as Virginia interpreters are cleaning up.

That the Charlottesville school has the whip hand is conceded. Georgetown must either agree to terms or lose a game that has brought great financial returns. There is almost as much interest here to-night in this phase of the situation as in the result of the game.

No charges are made regarding the 1913 Georgetown eleven, but Virginia men think it strange that a number of players not expected earlier in the season should have been hurriedly whipped into shape at a late date. In other words, Virginia adherents feel that it is manifestly unfair for the Orange and Blue to go up against a team that is trained for just one college—Virginia. That's the real bone here of the woolpile.

There is no fault to be found with the eligibility rules at Georgetown; the fault lies in their enforcement, or rather in their lack of enforcement. Somehow or other, say the Virginia men, these rules have been negatively through an undiscoverable agency. That's where the rub lies. Regardless of the result to-morrow, the question will be brought to an issue before any contract is entered into for a Georgetown-Virginia game next year.

Dr. W. A. Lambeth, head of athletics at the University of Virginia, will confer with Harvard athletic advisers shortly regarding a game between the Crimson and the Orange and Blue. Harvard offered Virginia a game this year, but it fell on the date allotted Georgetown, therefore nothing could be done. Since Harvard cut out Dartmouth a representative game has been needed. Virginia was wanted to fill this bill. Now Georgetown must either force the Virginia game or agree to clean up, as Virginia interpreters are cleaning up.

That the Charlottesville school has the whip hand is conceded. Georgetown must either agree to terms or lose a game that has brought great financial returns. There is almost as much interest here to-night in this phase of the situation as in the result of the game.

Virginia has the better team, but— and mind you this is no ordinary kind of a but—it's a double-barreled and reinforced, the kind of a "but" that is unanswerable, and is the best dissipator of preconceived ideas yet discovered. If—that's the way they all begin to think—Georgetown's line is able to withstand the charge of the Virginia forwards, and if Georgetown is able to get the jump on the Charlottesville Trojans, and if the Blue and Gray can send Furry or Costello around Virginia's ends at a proper moment, then Georgetown is almost sure to upset all the prophecies that have come before and choke Orange and Blue hope for championship honors. That's the Hilltop's chief argument.

Virginia, or rather the mackinawed young men who are haunting the Orange and Blue colors, say that regardless of all that has been done in the way of bolstering up weak portions of the Catholic outfit, there isn't a chance for the Blue and Gray. No particular line of reasoning has brought them to this conclusion; they are all merely basking in the sunlight of that highly pleasing state called "a hunch." It's a pretty good way to feel. At least, we imagine it's a good way to feel from the smug and satisfied expression resting quietly upon the countenances of the aforementioned and afore-referred-to Virginia young men.

No Bets Recorded.

Regardless of what the individual may feel or of what the lucky ones in on the "know" may have gathered, there is no apparent desire on the part of any one to back judgment with money. No bets have been recorded. Georgetown wants as good as two to one on the result, while Virginia is ready to give such odds. There have been numerous offers made on the score, but neither side is anxious to wager any appreciable amount. It's the old, old story of the supposedly weaker outfit having something up its sleeve. No question exists but that the Virginia supporters are fearful that at the last moment Georgetown may spring a surprise. That's the way of the uncertainty.

Friends of the Blue and Gray, men who have watched the eleven all season, and even the coaches, admit that Georgetown will have a vastly stronger team in the field to-morrow than in any game of the season. They all willingly say that Georgetown will forget all past defeats if victory should come in the clash with Virginia. No one seems to know what to expect. Captain Costello, rounding out his fourth year as a member of the Georgetown team, will play at quarter back. Furry, Murray and Dunn will make up the rest of the backfield, and if this quartet plays anywhere near to form, it will be hard to stop.

Landes and Mayer will surely start for Virginia. Gooch will run the team, and Ray will probably get the call for the other half back position. The Orange and Blue, according to the figures given out to-night, will outweigh Georgetown probably ten pounds to the man, and therein lies Virginia's greatest strength. Georgetown's line must withstand the smashing attack of the Virginia forwards if her backs are to get away to any kind of start. Billy Sitterding, who has been up here helping coach the back field, is our authority for saying that Georgetown has a good show of upsetting the odds, provided the line can hold long enough to give the backs time to put the play called for under way.

Both Sides Dumb.
No statements are being made by either side. Frank Costello, head coach of Georgetown, did go so far as to say that his team was in great shape, and would put up a wonderful battle, a very nice sort of a statement, meaning (Continued on Ninth Page)

While badly crippled by injuries to several star players, the Maury team will enter the contest prepared to give Maury the toughest tussle of the season. The loss of "Stumpy" Owens, cyclone half back, and "Shiny" Wood, the gritty full back, is a hard blow for the Blue and White line-up. The shift in the Blue and White line-up occurred yesterday afternoon, when Coach Simpson shifted Turner back in his regular position as right end, and shifted Blankenship from right half back to left half back, to carry being put in Blankenship's place.
With the exception of these minor changes, John Marshall will line-up exactly as they did against Blackstone Academy. This shift will greatly strengthen the Blue and White right wing, which heretofore has been the weakest point in the locals' machine.
Judging by the number of games won this season, Maury High seems to have the edge on John Marshall. The locals have won five of their last six games, and Maury has won four of its last five. Maury has one of the hardest men to stop the back, and the locals have a strong line. However, he will be in to-day's practice, and is expected to put up another brilliant performance.
The locals will carry quite a delegation of rooters, and they expect to win. The game will be played at Broad Street Park next Tuesday afternoon between John Marshall and Maury High School. The game will be a real test of the two teams' strength, and will be a real test of the two teams' strength, and will be a real test of the two teams' strength.

There is just one more Prep School football game to be played before the schedule will come to an end. The game will be played at Broad Street Park next Tuesday afternoon between John Marshall and Maury High School. The game will be a real test of the two teams' strength, and will be a real test of the two teams' strength, and will be a real test of the two teams' strength.

ONE PREP GAME FOR NEXT WEEK

There is just one more Prep School football game to be played before the schedule will come to an end. The game will be played at Broad Street Park next Tuesday afternoon between John Marshall and Maury High School. The game will be a real test of the two teams' strength, and will be a real test of the two teams' strength, and will be a real test of the two teams' strength.

MEMORABLE GAME PROMISED TO-DAY

The Richmond College football team will have a bye on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock for Norfolk, where they meet the fast, victory-pushed Maury High School team.
This game will practically decide the high school championship of Tidewater Virginia. The winner of to-day's contest will meet Lynchburg High School, champions of the western section of the State, in the State championship. John Marshall put Maury High out of the running last year, and will try hard to repeat the trick to-day.
While badly crippled by injuries to several star players, the Maury team will enter the contest prepared to give Maury the toughest tussle of the season. The loss of "Stumpy" Owens, cyclone half back, and "Shiny" Wood, the gritty full back, is a hard blow for the Blue and White line-up. The shift in the Blue and White line-up occurred yesterday afternoon, when Coach Simpson shifted Turner back in his regular position as right end, and shifted Blankenship from right half back to left half back, to carry being put in Blankenship's place.
With the exception of these minor changes, John Marshall will line-up exactly as they did against Blackstone Academy. This shift will greatly strengthen the Blue and White right wing, which heretofore has been the weakest point in the locals' machine.
Judging by the number of games won this season, Maury High seems to have the edge on John Marshall. The locals have won five of their last six games, and Maury has won four of its last five. Maury has one of the hardest men to stop the back, and the locals have a strong line. However, he will be in to-day's practice, and is expected to put up another brilliant performance.
The locals will carry quite a delegation of rooters, and they expect to win. The game will be played at Broad Street Park next Tuesday afternoon between John Marshall and Maury High School. The game will be a real test of the two teams' strength, and will be a real test of the two teams' strength, and will be a real test of the two teams' strength.

Yale-Princeton Battle in Every Respect Expected to Be Record-Breaker.

New Haven, Conn., November 14.—Fair weather and a fast field are all that is needed to make the Yale-Princeton football game to be played here to-morrow, memorable in the long list of gridiron contests between these ancient university athletic rivals. In every respect the contest promises to be a record-breaker. The local weather holds out a promise of ideal football conditions.

Inspired by the prospects of a thrilling battle on Yale field to-morrow, the Yale advance guard of thousands who will witness the struggle is already on the ground. Hotel accommodations were as scarce to-night as tickets for the game.

Although Princeton was quoted to-night as a 19 to 7 choice to defeat Yale, there was little evidence of a great outpouring of Tiger currency. Betting on the outcome was comparatively light.

The Yale advance guard of thousands who will witness the struggle is already on the ground. Hotel accommodations were as scarce to-night as tickets for the game.

Although Princeton was quoted to-night as a 19 to 7 choice to defeat Yale, there was little evidence of a great outpouring of Tiger currency. Betting on the outcome was comparatively light.

The Yale advance guard of thousands who will witness the struggle is already on the ground. Hotel accommodations were as scarce to-night as tickets for the game.

Although Princeton was quoted to-night as a 19 to 7 choice to defeat Yale, there was little evidence of a great outpouring of Tiger currency. Betting on the outcome was comparatively light.

The Yale advance guard of thousands who will witness the struggle is already on the ground. Hotel accommodations were as scarce to-night as tickets for the game.

Although Princeton was quoted to-night as a 19 to 7 choice to defeat Yale, there was little evidence of a great outpouring of Tiger currency. Betting on the outcome was comparatively light.

The Yale advance guard of thousands who will witness the struggle is already on the ground. Hotel accommodations were as scarce to-night as tickets for the game.

Although Princeton was quoted to-night as a 19 to 7 choice to defeat Yale, there was little evidence of a great outpouring of Tiger currency. Betting on the outcome was comparatively light.

The Yale advance guard of thousands who will witness the struggle is already on the ground. Hotel accommodations were as scarce to-night as tickets for the game.

With the Little Athletes

The Little V. P. Ls will play the Little Yales this morning at the Richmond College campus at 10 o'clock.
The Little V. P. L team has been undergoing some hard practice for the last week, and is in the best of condition. It has not lost a game this season, and is confident of victory over the Little Yales to-day.
The Little Yales are also sure of victory, and have also kept up some hard practice during the last week. The team is reported in the best of condition for the game.
If the Little V. P. Ls win the game, the team will get a V. P. L pennant, and if the Little Yales win, it will get a Yale pennant.
The line-up follows:
Little V. P. Ls Little Yales
Position Position
Edwards, left end, Minor
Bethel, left tackle, Williams
Cummings, left guard, Whitehead
Christian, center, Mosely
Burham, right guard, Fleming
Henson, right tackle, Vaughan
Buttger, right end, Sands
Burham, quarter back, Tanner
Watson, left half back, Johnson
Ward, right half back, Conrad
Briggs, full back, McKinney

Football Games To-Day

Richmond College vs. Randolph-Macon, at Richmond.
Virginia vs. Georgetown, at Washington.
Carolina vs. Wake Forest, at Durham.
Washington and Lee vs. West Virginia, at Charleston.
William and Mary vs. Hampden-Sydney, at Williamsburg.
A. & M. vs. South Carolina, at Raleigh.
Yale vs. Princeton, at New Haven.
Dartmouth vs. Carleton, at New York.
Harvard vs. Brown, at Cambridge.
Pennsylvania vs. Michigan, at Ann Arbor.
Cornell vs. Lafayette, at Ithaca.
Pittsburg vs. Bucknell, at Harrisburg.
Hamilton vs. Union, at Clinton.
Holy Cross vs. Fordham, at Worcester.
Johns Hopkins vs. Western Maryland, at Baltimore.
Lehigh vs. Haverford, at Haverford.
Navy vs. Penn State, at Annapolis.
Worcester Poly. vs. Rensselaer Poly., at Troy.
Rhode Island State vs. Boston College, at Kingston.
Stevens vs. Connecticut Aggies, at New Haven.
Swarthmore vs. Dickinson, at Swarthmore.
Syracuse vs. Colgate, at Syracuse.
Trinity vs. Rutgers, at New Brunswick.
Minnesota vs. Chicago, at Minneapolis.
Rochester vs. Hobart, at Geneva.
Franklin and Marshall vs. Lebanon College, at Lancaster.
Washington and Jefferson vs. Pittsburgh, at Pittsburgh.
Wesleyan vs. New York University, at New York.

TURNER REGAINS BELT AS CHAMPION

Downs Con. Albright Two Falls in Three in a Match Full of Thrills.
In the most sensational and hardest fought wrestling match ever staged in Richmond Joe Turner defeated Con. Albright at the Academy of Music last night, and regained title to the belt as the world's champion middleweight wrestler. Much of the pleasure and interest in the match was marred by the lengthy talks on whether or not the toe hold should be barred, which kept the audience waiting more than thirty minutes for the bout, which was scheduled to start at 8:15 o'clock. Patrons of the wrestling game, and they are many, as they gathered to-night, will appreciate the promoters doing away with unnecessary delays and staging the events on advertised time.

THE NEW KNITTED SCARFS ARE HERE 50c

"Every Thread Silk."
Both accordion and crochet.
KAHN'S OF RICHMOND,
"Men's Wear That Men Wear,"
713 E. Broad St.

PACKARD and HUDSON MOTOR CARS

Gordon Motor Co.
FALL HATS
ALL THE NEWEST SHAPES, BOTH SOFT AND STIFF.

Tyler's

First and Broad Sts.
INCORPORATED

THE NEW KNITTED SCARFS ARE HERE 50c

"Every Thread Silk."
Both accordion and crochet.
KAHN'S OF RICHMOND,
"Men's Wear That Men Wear,"
713 E. Broad St.

PACKARD and HUDSON MOTOR CARS

Gordon Motor Co.
FALL HATS
ALL THE NEWEST SHAPES, BOTH SOFT AND STIFF.